BLOWING/GLASS

Relief Vase

Following in the footsteps of the bestselling Coral, Shanghai and Hongkong vases by Norman Trapman, a sturdy bunch of colorful pieces is now entering the stage.

Playful to the max, the bubbly vases of the Relief Series aim to cause a stir wherever they go – and they’ve come a long way already. The hand of their master has shaped each of their little bumps by hand-blowing their entire body into a wooden mold.

Since each has its own unique form and color, these characters naturally participate in the fight for the right to be different. Just let them show off their beautiful diversity in all the places they will inhabit.

“The distinctive relief shape to which these vases owe their name, is inspired by brutalism in architecture, and my tribute to the work of Fritz Wotruba, a late 20-century Austrian sculptor known for dissolving figurative components in favor of geometrical abstraction.”

– Norman Trapman, Dutch designer

Crackled Glass Ball Body Vase

Bold and beautiful, this state-of-the-art addition to our classically-shaped family of Ball Body vases is ready to crack up any interior. Not your ordinary vase, each piece is fully mouth-blown in a wooden mold. It has been dipped in ice-cold water and baked in the hottest of ovens. It's the mastery of one of the craftsmen we met on our journeys through China, over 20 years ago.

Bursting with confidence, this daredevil from the Ming dynasty lives life on the edge. But don't be fooled: the design might look as if it can burst at any moment; it is as strong as your favorite superhero. As it had a life before you, it will have one after you too.

“The instant shock the glass gets from the water gives the design its delicate cracks. After bathing, I place the vase back in the mold, and into the oven, where it is baked for two minutes, turning it into a waterproof piece of art.”

Digi Series

Welcome back to the future, where a series of time travelers rule the dinner table. Way ahead of their time, these espresso cups, mugs, bowls, and various sizes of plates show us how to blend ancient handcrafting techniques with the latest state-of-the-art technologies.

Made in collaboration with Kranen/Gille – a Dutch design studio that shapes the future by looking at the past – this series is a nod to the cyber world. Charmed by early 8-bit abstraction such as Nintendo, SEGA, and Atari, each piece is modeled after the masters' vision of the new, digitalized world. This Digi Series is executed in a futuristic pink and yellow.

“The faceted look refers both to low-res imagery and craft-cut crystal. A new-worldly paradox that is highlighted by a polygon of circa 100 hand-painted lines. Thanks to POLSPOTTEN’s access to innovative production possibilities, each item of the Digi Series has become a true conversation piece.”

Waves of innovation

The POLSPOTTEN x BYBORRE family of things is inspired by our love for those dazzling summer nights on the ocean – and the relaxing vibes that come from counting stars. Touch and feel how the waves and stars come to life through the three-dimensional fabric, uniquely crafted for this capsule collection. This collaboration takes POLSPOTTEN's iconic 70s-inspired styles and wraps them in cutting-edge, eco-friendly textiles by BYBORRE. Each design is bound to whisk you off into a floating state of mind. All you have to do is wind down.

“Signature to BYBORRE is our double-layered textile knitted from 48.4% recycled materials. The custom artwork of this series is reminiscent of rippling oceanscapes and starry nights. Wrapped around the designs of POLSPOTTEN, the result is a truly captivating capsule collection.”
